ELECTION RETURNS.

POTTER NEW YORK'S NEXT LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Pennsylvania---Fearful Railrond Accident---Young on Trial---Other Telegraphic News.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 7, 10:30 P. M'—The Evening Journal has additioal returns from State ticket, and the figures show a majority for Potter, Democrat, for Lieutenant Governor. It says the returns generally indicate that Carr, for Secretary of State, Wordsworth for Comptroller, Wendell, for Treasurer, and Ward for Attorney General, all Republican, are considerably ahead, and probably elected by from two to five thousand majority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—In regard to the State ticket the Herald this morning says: Another day has passed—the third—since the election, without settling the fate of any officer on the general ticket except Governor. The utmost that can be said is that the voting runs unusually close in the case of every one of them, and that the probabilities still favor the success of most of the Democratic candidates.

The Sun makes Cornell's plurality 38,518, and Potter's majority for Lieutenant Governor 4,231. The rest of the Democratic State ticket, it says, seems to be elected by small majorities, although it admits that the wards increased vote over the Republican candidates in New York city makes the contest for the Attorney Generalship very close.

ALBANY, Nov. 7.—The Argus (Dem.) claims the election of the State officers, but does not estimate the majorities.

The Express (Rep.) claims the election of the whole Republican ticket except Soule.

FROM PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Official returns of Tuesday's election from all counties in this State show that Butler (Rep.) has a majority over all other candidates of 58,674. The Greenback and prohibition vote was very light.

The Virginia Election.

PETERSBURG, Nov. 6.—Election returns from precincts in adjacent counties are coming in very slowly and great interest is felt as to the result. In Brunswick county, Johnson, Readjuster, was elected to the House of Delegates by 33 majority. In the Senatorial district composed of Brunswick, Nottoway and Lauenberg, Williams, Republican, was elected over Judge R. M. Mallory, Readjuster, by 150 majority. Reliable information gives Walton, Debt payer, for the Senate and Jones and Jewett, Debt payers, for the Legislature from the Chesterfield district composed of the counties of Chesterfield and Powhattan and Manchester townships a majority of about 300.

Railroad Accident.

ALTOONA, Pa., Nov. 7.—A freight train on the Pennsylvania Railroad broke in two this morning while coming down the mountain eight miles west of Altoona, and the detached portion of the train gained great speed, running down hill at the rate of a mile a minute, until it overtook and ran into the first part. Twenty-four cars were completely wrecked. James McDowell and J. C. Cook, brakemen, fatally injured and terribly mutilated.

Preparing to Hunt Victoria.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A Denver, Col., dispatch says the greatest activity prevails at military headquarters at Santa Fe and Fort Bayard in refitting Morrow's command to take the field against the Apache Chief Victoria. The Cotton Worm.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Prof. Riley has returned from the South, where he has been making a thorough study of the insects which injuriously affect the cotton plant. He has visited, during the year, every cotton growing State and section in the South, and has watched the development and studied the habits of the cotton worm from the time it is hatched in the spring until it is killed by early frosts. He reports that the results of the year's work are very valuable and satisfactory, and will be published at an early day.

The Orphan Fund.

BALTIMORE, November 6.—This afternoon Captain F. M. Colston received from Mr. A. S. Abell, of the Sun, a note enclosing his check for $1,000, which Captain Colston was requested to add to the fund now being raised for the maintenance and education of the orphaned family of the late General Hood. The note further says: "Half of this amount is my own contribution, and the other half that of Mr. G. W. Childs, of Philadelphia."

French Financial Troubles.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A Paris dispatch says: The difficulties which marked yesterday's Paris Bourse, have not yet been surmounted. At the opening today there was much hesitating and fear of a catastrophe, but later on the rumors of quiet arrangement reassured the market. The directors of the Banque Europeinne have reconsidered their position regarding M. Philipout's speculations, and will interview him in the settlement of the difficulties resulting from them.

The Bank Europienne seems to have been advised that it stands, by law, responsible for its chairman's operations. And it is stated that M. Phillipout has resigned the chairmanship of the Banque, and that an extraordinary meeting of the shareholders will be held as soon as possible.

KING COTTON.

The Cotton Circular---Still Advancing in Price.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 7.—This week's circular of the Liverpool Cotton Broker's Association says cotton on last Friday was very unsettled and sales were restricted, but since then with declining prices, a fair amount of business has been done. American was in good demand, but in consequence of the greatly increased supply, quotations of current grades are reduced fully 9-16d. Ordinary is only 1-8 lower. Sea Island was in fair request. Floridas, with pretty good stapie, are half-penny higher. Futures, until Wednesday, were dull despite home fluctuations, and prices declined 5-32d for November delivery, and 3-32d for other positions; since Wednesday the strong decline has been recovered and an advance of 1-16a1-8d respectively established.

A Southern Relic.

Reidsville Times.

An old Bible is now in a bookstore in Albany that was picked up by a Yankee soldier in the streets of Fredericksburg, December 14, 1862. The soldier gave it to his chaplain who forwarded it to Albany and there it has been ever since. It is a Latin Bible that was printed in the year 1500. The first person of the Godhead is represented in it in the semblance of an old man with the Papal crown on his head. The flood is pictured. Noah and his wife with their heads out of the window looking at the flight of four birds. Manna is represented about the size of a bread cracker Moses is invariably pictured as having horns.

What Our People are Doing---Marriages and Deaths---Interesting News of Every Kind.

FORSYTHE.

WINSTON, Nov. 5.—The weather is quite cold. Ponds are said to be frozen over; overcoats, thick boots and hot fires are greatly in demand. Business is lively and the general spirit of enterprise is fine.

Bishop DeSchweinitz, of the Moravian Church, died at his home in Salem last Monday night. He had been declining some time, and while absent in Europe could scarcely bear up during the trip home. He was a very prominent and useful official in the church, and did a great deal of good while living. He was born October 16, 1816, and devoted his life to his church.

A railroad meeting was held in the courthouse last Tuesday night. Many of our citizens were present, and some important work was done, which we will give in our next.

A professor in legerdemain aroused our citizens for several nights in Tice's Hall. Pinafore was no where compared with this chap—so say the boys.

Last evening at 7 o'clock the largest audience ever saw in the Presbyterian church, assembled to witness the marriage ceremony of Mr. W. Y. Revelle and Miss M. Estelle Bacon. This being the first marriage ceremony that ever came off in this church (except the dashing colored marriage mentioned some weeks ago), we expected to see things handsomely done, judging from the manner in which our Presbyterian friends generally do things. But this occasion surpassed incomparably our expectations. The church was most beautifully festooned with evergreens and bedecked with beautiful flowers. A most beautiful arch of evergreens adorned with flowers spanned the front of the altar, while above, in large size, were the letters R. B. underneath which was a horizontal festoon of evergreen, and under this in the center of a large solid wreath was a perfect representation of clasped hands resembling marble. The house was filled to its utmost capacity, and as Mrs. Col. Gorrell rendered the wedding march. The attendants, Miss Josie Wilson and Mr. P. A. Wilson, Jr., walked in from the left aisle and took their station on the right, Miss Laura Benton and Mr. Paul J. Carraway, Jr., came in from the right and passed over to the left, from the left Miss Mary Hardie and Mr. Thomas Wilson (Monumental Tom), entered and passed to the right, while Miss Alice Wilson and Mr. Boone Rose came in from the right and stood upon the left followed by the bride and groom who stopped beneath the arch, when Rev. F. H. Johnson, the popular pastor, performed one of the most beautiful and impressive ceremonies we ever witnessed.

It was brief, appropriate, impressive and beautiful. The happy pair accompanied by their attendants and friends, repaired to the popular boarding house of Mrs. Hardie where a supper well worthy the occasion, and such as Mrs. H. so well knows how to get up, awaited them. We will not attempt a description of costumes, for it would baffle the skill of our inefficient pen. They were superb and were elaborated in the latest style, beautiful trailing Empress trains. The bride was dressed in plain colored silk and every item in each costume condensed to show the grace and beauty in their fairest light. All the ladies were handsome as are many of our mountain ladies.

HARNETT.

HARRINGTON, Nov. 5.—The winter has set in with a vengeance. The thermometer is twenty-five this morning and it is cloudy.

Turpentine commands a living price for the first time this year, but will not benefit many persons as most all on hand has been sold.

Times seem quieter than I have noticed them for a long time. Everybody is attending to their own business, consequently news is scarce.

Married in upper Little River township on the 3d instant by D. C. McLean, Esq., Abner Thomas, of Chatham, to Miss Nannie G. Norden.

Rev. James McQueen had communion service at Barbecue last Sabbath. Quite a crowd in attendance.

Somebody takes my Friday's NEWS nearly every week. I wish they would let it alone, as my squibs come out on that day and a person always wants to see his own production. Take some other day if you must have one of my papers. J. M.

FRANKLIN.

FRANKLINTON, Nov. 6.—The weather is cool and bracing. Some of our farmers have not made cotton enough to pay for the fertilizers used.

Trade continues good here and at Louisburg, and also at Youngsville. King Cotton keeps the wheel moving.

Rev. W. A. Barrett's disposition is somewhat sour, we learn. He has had his wife's land posted, and last court presented some of his neighbors for passing across it. So says one who knows.

During the present ginning season, C. J. Ward has averaged from fourteen to twenty bales of cotton every twenty-four hours. He keeps his gin running day and night. B. J. Hall is ginning a great deal too.

D. W. Rencher leaves for Orange in a few days, where he expects to reside.

As a Mr. Smitmoor, a ching-whang glue vender, was passing up to Raleigh a day or so ago, he was called on for his ticket, and not producing it, it is said that he took a ride out of the door on the toe of Captain Drummond's boot. Had he had a little glue at the right place, Captain Drummond would have lost a boot.

Willie McGhee's stables and feed were burned last night. His horses were badly damaged by the fire, so much so that it is thought they may not recover. W.

GRANVILLE.

WILSON, Nov. 6.—The weather is cold and frosty.

Nor more than half a crop of sweet potatoes.

The price of cotton keeps trade quite lively as yet, especially at Henderson and Kittrells.

Henry Baskevick, of Rowan, clandestinely carried off Miss Eula V. Blow.

Carry Henly died yesterday, aged seventy-five years. He leaves two sisters, one seventy-three, whose neither limbs are stiffened with rheumatism, and the other something over a hundred years old, in nearly the last gasp from a mammary cancer. A long life family.

It is probable that John C. Usry, of Brassfield Township, will be a candidate for the sheriffalty next year, as a Conservative-Republican-Union Whig.

Mr. Samuel Hilman Blackley mounted his three-year-old mule a few days since, which instantly fell down and broke its fore leg.

Mr. Dow Davis, formerly of this State, recently arrived from Arkansas. He is introducing a novelty among the tanners in the mode of tanning. By his process any hide can be tanned in from three to sixty days.

Tobacco warehouses, hotels and other buildings, are going up in Oxford as if by magic, since the O. & H. Railroad has become a certainty. Town lots, and real estate near the town, are approaching New York values. Happy is he who owns one hundred square feet in town. J. W. W.

BUNCOMBE.

ASHEVILLE, Nov. 5.—Asheville is now quite lively; the weather is cool enough to keep the people astir, and in consequence of the Federal court which is now in session at this place, there are plenty of people astir—many of them rather hard looking customers. The town marshal told me last night at dark that he had already nine of them confined in the "lock up" for drunkenness and improper conduct.

Trade is reported quite lively, and from the advertisements we see, and cries we hear at every corner, one would imagine that every kind of tradesmen were in the place.

Rev. Mr. Burnett, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and who was stationed here last year, has been returned, and preached for us last Sunday.

The Asheville Female College is still under way of prosperity, and its president, Rev. James Atkins, who has just returned from a visit to conference which met in Abingdon, Va., reports quite favorably, both of the conference and the prospects of his school.

The tobacco warehouse of this place is progressing quite rapidly, and, I might say, happily, for its manager, Mr. J. D. Wilder, was yesterday married to Miss Mattie E. Dear, of this place, and the loving couple started immediately on a bridal tour to Atlanta.

The last sociable for the village was held on last Friday evening at the residence of Colonel Davidson, at which we understand quite a lively time was had. Another will be held this week.

Some important suits are to be tried during this sitting of the Federal court, the termination of which we will try and acquaint you. W.

GUILFORD.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Nov. 6, 1879.—The weather has been very cold, and is very dry still. It looks as if winter had really set in.

Trade is good still, everything being on an upward tendency, especially in the sugar and coffee market, which seems animated and much higher.

Rev. D. A. Hightfill, of the North Carolina Conference, Protestant Methodist Church, was married on the 4th by Rev. J. L. Miechaux to Miss —— Horney, of High Point.

I learn one of your city young men is soon to take one of Greensboro's fairest daughters. Names hereafter.

A drummer from Boston undertook to sell without due license from State authority, and very soon found himself in jail—results hereafter. This is rather a ticklish business, and reckless is the company that would send their man without proper license authority.

That body of people known as the Quakers held their yearly meeting at New Garden during the past week, and a large number of the denomination and many strangers were present. On Sunday several thousand were present, and there was preaching in and out doors.

MADISON.

WARM SPRINGS, Nov. 3.—The season of the Saratoga of the South, I mean the Warm Springs of North Carolina, is now drawing to a close for the present season. Dr. W. H. Howerton has renewed his lease for several more years and has already commenced work in earnest to put the place in better order than it has ever been before. It is the Doctor's intention to make the Warm Springs more attractive than any watering place in the Southern States. The Springs have done well this season during the month of August there was between four and five hundred guests, in fact a very large company remained until late in September. Doctor H. is now expecting a large party from the interior of the State of New York next week, he thinks that there will be fifty guests here this winter from the North and Western States to spend the winter and early spring months. The owner of this valuable property, Mr. James H. Rumbough, is a live business man and possesses great energy in pushing work rapidly through. He has just finished a large ice house, which when full will hold enough to supply one thousand persons. When you Raleigh people visit the Warm Springs next summer you need not be afraid but what you will be bountifully supplied. There will be a large addition of rooms added to the hotel this winter, from seventy-five to eighty. Mr. Rumbough has a large force of carpenters and bricklayers at work and he hopes to be able to get the rooms covered before the cold weather sets in. We have had no cold weather only a light frost a few mornings.

The hog drovers have put in an appearance, the first lot went by here on Sunday morning. I learn that quite a number of droves will pass this place this week. CITIZEN.

Many sink into an early grave by not giving immediate attention to a slight cough, which could have been stopped in time by a twenty-five cent bottle of Dr, Bull's Cough Syrup.

HEART-GUSHINGS.

HOW THE DEAR CREATURES SAY "YES."

Reciprocity---Sensibility---Appreciation---Astonishment---Felicity---An Alliterative Answer.

Weldon News.

It will be remembered that we offered the News for twelve months last issue to the lady writing us the best letter accepting an offer of marriage. We appointed three judges to decide on the best, and they awarded the prize to "Bessie," whose letter is given below with a good many others. Miss "Bessie" will forward us her real name and we will place it on our subscription books.

FLORAL DALE, Halifax Co., 1879.
DEAR SIR—Yes. Come and see me.
Yours, ANNIE.

GARYSBURG, N. C., Nov. 2, 1879.
SIR—I am yours forever, and three minutes afterwards. Come immediately if not sooner. LIZZIE.

LITTLETON, N. C., Oct. 30, 1879.
DEAR SIR—A reciprocal feeling of affection induces the responsive "yes" to your proposal. LACONIC LUCY.

ENFIELD, N. C., Nov. 3, 1879.
DEAR SIR—After mature reflection I accede to your proposition.
Yours sincerely, X.

HALIFAX, Nov, 1, 1879.
SIR—I am truly sensible of the honor you have conferred on me, by the proposal which your letter contains, and can assure you, I should be doing an injustice to my own feelings, were I to express sentiments in reply otherwise than agreeable to your proposed wish.
Your affectionate and faithful, BESSIE.

ENFIELD, Oct. 31, 1879.
MR.—With a proper appreciation of your real worth, and the complimentary tribute of respect your generosity has given me on your heart and hand, I will accede to your wishes with faith unfeigned and yet with the prayer that the consummation of this acceptance be not only, our happiness here, but will lead our soul to heaven at last.
Yours always, LUCILLE.

WELDON, N. C., Nov. 3, 1879.
DEAR SIR—A feeling of felicity fills me with fullness for the fine fellow who fixes the future with such fabulous fortune for me. The feeble flames of fascination are fast fanning into fervent feminine fanaticism under your first flattering favor, and while I find my feelings favorable to the fabric of your fair faith, my faculties will never fade if your fancy proves not false. I feign would fling myself at your feet or fall folded to your heart, forever flourishing there. Firmly, FANNIE.

ENFIELD, N. C., Oct., 31, 1879.
SIR—I received yours the 10th instant, perused it with astonishment, and shall I say pleasure? Yes pleasure, for while I have long known and admired your manly worth, I had no thought that you looked upon me as more than a friend, with whom 'twas pleasant to spend an occasional evening, but now that you have honored me with the offer of your heart and hand I pause and hesitate which way to turn reluctant to leave the tried friends of my youth, yet filled with indescribable longings to walk the rainbow tinted paths of life by your side. I tremblingly yet trustingly place my hand in yours, thus acknowledging you as my guide and companion. Now with the prayer that I your sorrows may divide and your joys may double, I am your true friend, ELAINE.

DAWSONS X ROADS, N. C., Nov. 2, '79.
MY ESTEEMED EDGAR—After seriously reflecting on matrimony, I have at last concluded to accept your proposal of marriage. I see no use in waiting for better times. Ma is an old lady and says there is more in good management and industry than there is in wealth. Many a poor man has become rich when rich has become poor. We are both young and I have every reason to believe you have loved me and I know I love you. I think it so hard for lovers not to be united in wedlock and I think those who oppose will commit an unpardonable sin. We have had many trials, but I trust our future pleasures will overbalance our past troubles. Ma is not willing for me to leave her, I being her youngest, but however I can make it all right with her. She has no objection to you or the family, she thinks every one ought to marry those they love, unless they know they will marry to their ruin. I have every reason to believe you will try to make me happy. One thing you must do and that is to subscribe to the Roanoke News. How pleasant after a days work to sit at night and read to me while I may be doing some domestic work. So if you can make your arrangements, I will agree to marry you on the 20th of December. Aunt Sallie will give us a party during the Christmas holidays. Please come and fix up matters at once. I will close by saying I am trusting the time to come.
Your sincere lover, H. L. D.

The Hayden Murder Trial.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 6.—The trial of Rev. H. H. Hayden now promises to become more interesting than it has been heretofore, as the expert testimony has ended temporarily, and the testimony relates to matters which a common man can understand. The defense gave Andrew A. Hazett a sharp cross-examination, and in so doing gave an inkling to the possible line of defense. It is this: They will claim that he was familiar with Mary Stannard, and the letter she wrote from Guilford was directed, not to Hayden, but to Mr. Hazen, by which name Hazlett was sometimes known in Rockland and other places where he lived. He had an opportunity of becoming intimate with Mary during her many visits to Nehemiah Burrs. This will be shown later in the progress of the trial, and it is asserted he is a man whose character is not above reproach, as can be shown by a number of witnesses.

Kearney as a Murderer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—A meeting, ostensibly of cigar makers, was held last evening in Horticultural Hall, and was addressed by young Kalloch, son of the mayor-elect, auditor Dunan and Kearney. Nothing unusual occurred until near the close when Kearney announced that it was proposed to organize in the city, a secret society, called the Jacobin society, whose object it would be to hang every and any merchant who should employ Chinese or in any way encourage Chinese labor. The agitator called for a show of hands on the proposition. Instantly, and with singular unanimity, the hands of all present were raised in approval. No disapprobation was shown, either by word or sign, of Kearney's proposition to organize a secret and murderous society. Much excitement has been produced wherever this action is known.

LATE NEWS NOTES.

Goldsboro Mail.

Our cotton merchants think the bulk of the cotton crop of Wayne has already been brought to market.

Freights now go through to New Berne and Morehead City on the A. & N. C. R. R., from points on the N. C. R. R., without breaking bulk at this place.

Two of the descendents of Ham had a fisticuff on Sunday last; one a citizen of Raleigh, the other of Goldsboro. Raleigh and Goldsboro must behave better than to be fighting on the Sabbath.

Albemarle Enquirer.

The revival in town broke on Sunday night last, after having lasted two weeks and done much good.

It is said that chickens, cabbage and wood (and registered letters) are in demand among the thieves around town, now. Pick your flints brethren!

We learn that the arm of Mr. Braxton T. Flythe, of Northampton, which was recently caught in a cotton gin, required reamputation in consequence of mortification having taken place. Doctor Lawrence informs us that he will now do well, if his blood is in a condition to sustain the wound.

On Tuesday night of last week, while our postmaster was at church, some party entered the postoffice and after making a careful but useless search for the registered letters, went on their way, doubtless, shamefully disappointed. The strange part of it is, that after being so greatly disappointed (for the P. M. had the letters in his poket) the would-be-thief, left without disturbing anything in the room, and carefully let down the window after he got out.

Tarboro Southerner.

Mr. Chamberlaine, of the Tarboro House, has placed a twenty-eight ounce Peerless Irish potato, second crop, planted 10th June before us. This beats anything in Edgecombe.

Farmers, have you provided for this year's short corn crop by planting oats, wheat, rye and the grasses? You all know what a stitch in time saves.

'Squire Jenkins, of Cokey Township, informs us that Peter Phillips, a white man, keeping a little store in the township, knocked Sam Shavers, colored, on the head with a sledge hammer, last Friday, felling him insensible. Phillips took to the bushes, while Shavers is slowly recovering. Whisky.

Isn't it about time for cotton farmers to stop being compelled to ask the merchants, "What are you going to allow me for my cotton?" This is not the language of a free man, nor is he a free man who is obliged to ask it.

We are the recipient of an invitation to attend a grand tournament and ball to be given at Rocky Mount on Friday, November 28th, 1879. W. O. Bullock says twenty-six knights have already entered. A speaker to address the knights has been selected in Tarboro.

Judge Gudger informed us in Elizabeth City that at Washington county Superior Court one Thomas Maitland, colored, swore a lie about 12 M. The Solicitor was instructed to draw a bill for perjury; the grand jury found it true, trial and conviction at once ensued, and at 5 P. M. the perjurer was sentenced to the penitentiary for five years. If this sort of thing could happen in every county, this common crime would cease.

We have never seen better potatoes than at the Elizabeth City Fair, and we were informed by Colonel Ferrebee and Mr. Hollowell that the first crop came off ten days ahead of Norfolk, commanding ready sale at remunerative prices and the second crop was always a success; that the difficulty of getting the second crop up was obviated by planting immature potatoes of the first crop, and not cutting them. It is an industry cotton men should take hold of.

A countryman came to market here last Saturday with a dump cart loaded with chickens and wooden trays that he had pulled twenty miles, from Henry county, Virginia. The whole load panned him out about five dollars. Simpkins, who loaf around, and only works his jaws, says that five dollars wouldn't buy his wife a new bonnet.

Agricultural.

Wilmington Star.

As an evidence of progress in agriculture in the western portion of North Carolina, we give some statistics of Catawba county, obtained from a reliable gentleman from that county, now in this city. Number of acres planted in wheat, about 500; number of wheat drills in the county, 400; number of reapers, 75; number of mowers, 100; sulky cultivators, 25; gang plows, 2; portable engines, 25; self-propelling steam road engines, 3; improved thrashers, 25. All the machinery and implements in use are of modern invention and the most improved pattern.

Good Evidence.

When such men as the Rev. Dr. Rankin, Rev. Doctor Harvey, Professor Green, Doctor Bartine, Colonel John K. McChesney, E. W. Neff, and a host of others equally trustworthy, certify over their own signatures to the marvelous efficacy of Warners Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, in the diseases for which it is recommended, it is time to dismiss doubts on the subject.

GRANT AND SETTLE.

THE OUTCOME OF THE STATE ELECTIONS.

How the Prominent Republicans are Engineering Settle For Vice-President.

Baltimore Sun, 7th.

Prominent Republicans at this point, who are not active in engineering the Grant boom, cherish the hope of putting Judge Settle, late of North Carolina, but now United States district judge for Florida, on the ticket with Grant for Vice-President. As has been stated General Grant has it in contemplation to make a trip South during this winter. Judge Settle and some prominent Republicans of North Carolina want the Grant boom, so far as the South is concerned, to be started from that State, and a formal invitation has been sent to General Grant to visit North Carolina either in December or January, as may suit his personal convenience. Leading Democrats in North Carolina are said to have given the assurance that they will join in extending the hospitalities of the State to General Grant if the affair is divested of any partisan features. As Judge Settle is personally very popular with them, they will have no objection to anything that will help his aspirations in the way of an association on the ticket with General Grant. There is no doubt, as said by leading Southern men here, that General Grant, if he makes his projected trip through the South, will receive an attention and respect not excelled by anything which he has met with in the West. As there are no longer any men of large wealth in the South, he would not expect to be entertained in the elaborate and magnificent style of Western receptions.

"The Wreck of the Astarte."

In connection with the wreck of the yacht Astarte, and the gallant rescue of her crew, there are some interesting facts which have not yet been made public. The Astarte, belonging to Mr. R. A. Napier, of Glasgow, was caught in the gale of the 21st ult., in the Minch while running from Tarbert, Harris, to Barra, in the outer Hebrides. On Monday afternoon she ran for shelter to an island at the entrance of the Sound of Harris, called Greanern, about four miles from Lochmaddy, and close to the Uist coast.

The gale increased to a hurricane during the night, and the sea ran fearfully high. The yacht dragged her anchors, and was eventually dashed on to the rocks near a small island about eleven miles from the west coast of Harris, where she soon broke up and sank. The passengers and crew, among whom were three ladies and two children, were with much difficulty got ashore with life lines. They were dragged through the raging surf, one lady being nearly drowned. They took what shelter they could among the heather which grew on the top of this small rocky island. The privations they suffered were intense, and the force of the gale was such that they with difficulty prevented themselves from being blown off the rock into the sea. Thus they remained wet and starved, being utterly without food all that day and night until early next morning, when relief came to them from the most unexpected quarter.

It appears that some men on the Uist coast saw the wreck of the yacht, but, owing to the fearful sea running, no boat would venture out. Three men proceeded over the hills to Lochmaddy and gave information to the Procurator-Fiscal, who instantly telegraphed the news to Lord Dunmore, in Harris. The telegram was received in the night, but in less than two hours his Lordship got a crew of three men together, who proceeded under his command to make ready for sea the only available boat at the moment, which was an undecked but strongly-built cutter-rigged fishing-boat of about six tons. In this small, open boat, armed with baskets of provisions, they started in the dark, under a close-reefed mainsail, to beat against a southwest for eleven miles through a very heavy sea of open Atlantic.

After beating for five hours they reached the island and found the women and children in an exhausted state. After administering spirits and food to them they were put on board the gallant little boat, and were taken back to Rodel, in Harris, in safety where they were treated with the greatest care by the shooting tenants. The little boat then put to sea again for the second time, and rescued the remainder, whom she brought back to Harris in the afternoon. Lord Dunmore's fishing-boat is called the Dauntless, and well has she now earned her name, as no other boat on the coast would venture out on that day, and a few more hours of exposure on that storm-beaten rock must have been attended with serious results to the women and children. The names of the rescuing crew are Lord Dunmore, John McRae, Ewen McLeod and Norman Macdonald.

DAILY NEWS

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1879.

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

TWINKLE, twinkle little Star,
Now you know where you are.
S. J. T.

As the Washington Post pertinently remarks, "General Grant has no message for the people of the United States. Well, they have none for him."

TILDEN consoles himself with the reflection that if he is badly wet in New York, Hancock is completely drowned in Pennsylvania. Furthermore, the Solid South says it won't have Hancock anyway, which means it will take Tilden if he insists upon it.—New York Tribune.

If those that profess to watch the Southern press had taken the pains to read closely they would have seen that Mr. Tilden was not enthusiastically accepted as the man to lead the Democracy next year. To be sure the feeling was prevalent that he had been grossly cheated out of the Presidency, and by right should have the chance for the next trial; but the Southern people did not take kindly to him, and his claim was only supported on account of his supposed ability to carry New York this fall. This illusion is now dispelled. The South will not take Mr. Tilden even if he does insist on it. There is a better man in store, Mr. Bayard, and the Tribune might as well get its corps of scavengers at work to sift out something against him.

IN LINE FOR 1880.

Such is the caption of a grandiloquent essay at magnanimity appearing in the New York Tribune, in which it recounts the Republican victories in the North and says:

A solid North sends a greeting to a solid South. Yesterday answers the last session of Congress, and all the insolent disloyalty which, after growing for years, found expression there. The grand and resistless uprising which followed the shot in Charleston Harbor in 1861, finds an echo in the returns of to-day. Once more the North is united. The work which men did with their bullets they have determined not to spoil with their ballots. Here, on the very threshold of a victory which means, if they are wise, twenty years more of power, they serve notice upon the South that there is no vindictiveness in their triumph.

And yet this same paper, in the same page and in the same article gives the lie to itself. It classes the Southern people as liars, murderers and thieves. It speaks about continuing the war against ingnorance and superstition, thereby meaning the Southern people. It tells about the systematic assasination of Southern Republicans and the complete suppression of the colored, vote, and Southern repudiators. It has printed within the last three weeks more slanders about the South than all the rest of the Northern press combined. It has revamped crimes committed from three to seven years ago and published them as having occurred within the past two months, and now points at them as having been the cause of the Republican success in New York. It classes every appropriation made to the South as "corrupt money jobs," and hoots its warning that the South will get no more money from the public treasury.

An yet there is no vindictiveness in this triumph!

Yes, Men of the South we have done enough for conciliation. We offered you Horace Greeley, and insisted upon amnesty for all.

You offered us Horace Greeley!

This is news indeed. When Horace Greeley was nominated by the Liberals and indorsed by the Democracy, and the Tribune threw its weight into the contest; when the man that made the paper advocated his cause, offering conciliation to the South and a platform on which all could stand, then the beggarly stockholders of that paper sent to Cincinnati and imported a carpetbagger—a man when his own city of Cincinnati was threatened with capture by General Morgan, never stopped to shoulder his musket as a good Union man would have done, and which thousands did do, but gripped his carpet-bag and went to Cleveland even as an ark of refuge—Whitelaw Reid. And when the old man, he who founded the Tribune, this same Horace Greeley, went to his office one day, he found that he, whom the country recognized as a great editor, had been supplanted by a penny-a-liner.

And this, Men of the South, was the conciliation offered.

The same Northern element which then failed has since found means to offer you better terms than you ever expected. President Hayes held out the hand of reconciliation. Troops were withdrawn; advice of Southern men was heard in appointments; everything was done that could be done to leave the South without excuse for hostility. What has been the answer! The South has answered by its Ku-Klux clans, its rifle-clubs, and its systematic assassination of Republicans.

When President Hayes held out the hand of reconciliation, it was freely and cordially grasped. Southern representative men hailed with joy the good time coming. Ku-Klux and rifle clubs disappeared. The South entered upon the new era with amity and earnestness in their hearts, and gave evidences of vigor in its attempt to lift itself from the slough into which it had been pushed. But no sooner were President Hayes' good intentions avowed than this same Tribune sneered and snarled at him and helped create such a commotion in the Republican ranks that the weak-kneed man was tilted from his balance. And when Conkling and Chandler and Garfield brought him to their views, against his better judgment, the Tribune crowed most lustily.

And this is the hand of conciliation extended.

It is time to quit this prate of "offering the hand of friendship." The South can get along without the North. She is not at all dependent on the North. From every quarter of the South the boom of industry is sounding, and no thanks to the Tribune or its coadjutors. We begged for Northern capital to come and give us a helping hand to revive trade and industry. The Northern press teemed with accounts of "outrages" that never had a foundation in many cases, and warned capitalists that if they ventured into this benighted country they did so with their lives and their money in their hands. They did not come. And now throughout Georgia and Alabama and the Carolinas small cotton mills have been established in such large numbers that they threaten to paralyze Massachusetts industry; for the number will be doubled next year, and cotton factories will be established with the natural increase of capital. We have all the facilities, and large sums for the purpose of starting manufactures will be secured. In five years, utilizing our colored population, we shall be in a condition to bid the North "good-by" and make money for ourselves.

And this much for conciliation and the aid of the "bloody-shirt" business.

We don't want you, and we have no use for you.

200,000 Federal Soldiers.

New York Sun.

Put in the way that General Benet puts it, no wonder that the scheme of a new "national reserve" is publicly denounced by Mr. Richard O'Gorman as a dangerous plot of military centralization.

General Benet, in his current annual report, urges Congress "to break loose from the theories of the past, and empower the President, in time of peace, to organize a national reserve, under the constitutional power to raise and support armies!" One might suppose at first that the Chief of Ordnance was purposely burlesquing the militia reform movement, and seeking to undermine it by pushing it to excess.

But he is sincere. He proposes seriously that Congress shall this winter provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining two hundred thousand of the arms-bearing people of the nation, distributing them among the States in the proportion of about seven hundred to each Congressional district, and each Territory, and the District of Columbia. He asks also whether "State rights and prejudices" ought not to yield to the value of having such a force under central control. Finally, he proposes this scheme of getting the management of this force:

"When the exigencies of the regular service will permit, officers of the regular army should be allowed to accept commissions in the militia, without detriment to their regular commissions, upon the application of the Governors, and for such times as may be determined upon."

One advocate of this new movement estimates the cost of organizing, arming, equipping, clothing, and drilling this host of the future at $20,000,000. General Benet asks instead a permanent annual appropriation of $5,000,000 for his plan; and as he does not contemplate any reduction in the regular army, this is to be a clean addition to the military budget. Well may Mr. O'Gorman start at the tremendous enginery of centralization thus proposed; and well may taxpayers start at what the new army would cost, as well as what it would come to.

General Benet himself is the head of a bureau that distributes arms both to the militia, if it will take them, and to the army. Perhaps he would enjoy the magnifying of his office under an arrangement requiring his bureau to provide arms for two hundred thousand additional soldiers. He has certainly taken up the national militia movement with a zeal that must have surprised its original advocates.

True militia reform is a long-neglected duty of Congress. But the chief object of that reform is not to raise a force of two hundred thousand Federal troops, to be put at the beck of any occupant of the President's chair. The object, rather, is to take away the excuse hitherto alleged by neglectful States for calling in the regular army to perform the duties which the political system of this country, as founded by the fathers, imposed upon militia.

In pursuit of this laudable purpose, Congress can do much. It can, to begin with, enlarge the annual militia appropriations, which are now exactly what they were in 1809, although since then the country has greatly grown in wealth and population. The regular army has, since 1809, been more than trebled in size, and the annual military expenses have been swelled more than five-fold; yet the militia appropriations are not larger by a dollar. Thus Congress has helped by its faulty policy to bring about that deplorable innovation of relying on the army for militia duties, which must now be checked.

Starting at that point, Congress can probably arrange improvements in the clothing, equipments, armament, and camp equipages of the active militia; it can lend to it the use of Government material and the services of regular officers; it can stimulate rifle practice, with at least one range established in every State; it can effect some uniformity in militia regulations; and with these results, local pride in militia excellence will also be stirred up.

This, however, is a different matter from raising, arming and equipping two hundred thousand Federal soldiers, in addition to the twenty-seven thousand and more officers and men of the regular army, and the existing eighty or a hundred thousand State militia forces. Whatever Congress does for the militia, it must not override the rights of States, "nor break loose from the theories of the past," as General Benet advises. Least of all must it empower any President to raise a new national army in the time of peace, under its power "to raise and support armies"—a provision of the Constitution directly following and really forming a part of the preceding provision "to declare war." Its only function in this matter is described in the same Art. I., sec. 8 of the Constitution, "to provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia;" and there the officering and the training of the militia are expressly reserved to the States.

Cutting Scrape at Whiteville.

Wilmington Star, 6th.

Quite a serious cutting scrape occurred at Whiteville on Saturday evening last. It appears that a young white man from South Carolina, by the name of John Reeves, came there drunk, and, without the slightest provocation from any one, drew his knife and commenced cutting and slashing, indiscriminately, in a crowd of men, and succeeded in wounding Isaac and Henry Baldwin, colored, the former being cut seriously in the back. Mr. C. D. Baldwin, while attempting to take the knife away from the desperate man, was cut in the hand, and Mr. E. C. Watkins also received a blow, by which part of his beard was cut from his chin. There had been no trouble or misunderstanding at all. The first intimation Isaac Baldwin had of Reeves' intention to cut him was feeling the thrust of the knife into his body and the trickling of blood down his back. He was finally overpowered and lodged in the guard house, from which he was subsequently released upon giving bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at the next term of Columbus Superior Court. Young Reeves is said to be a man of good family, and usually very peaceable, but desperate when under the influence of strong drink.

Peculiar 'Possum.

Chatham Record.

Our young friend, Master Willie Barringer, showed us last week quite a curiosity in the shape of an opossum. It was a perfect Albino, being covered with snow-white hair, and having red eyes. It was caught nearly two years ago, and has become quite a pet with its owner, being docile and gentle, and is an unusually large opossum, weighing twelve pounds. It looks more like a small Polar bear than any other animal.

A Runaway.

Greensboro North State.

Deputy collector of Internal Revenue Joseph Worth, met with the total destruction of his sulky on Tuesday night last, about two miles west of Greensboro. He was on his way to Greensboro, and was driving a new horse he had not previously driven, and on the approach of the Western train the head light of the engine frightened the animal to such an extent that Mr. Worth could not manage him, even though he got from the sulky and endeavored to hold the horse, who, broke from his grasp and made off with the sulky, breaking it to pieces as above stated Mr. Worth received no serious damage.

An Old Cane.

Weldon News.

When Colonel J. W. Johnston, of this county, was at college about twenty-five years ago, he presented a gold headed cane to Frank Simmons, also of this county. Frank Simmons went out to Kansas to live and died out there. Senator Vance, who was a college mate of these two gentlemen, while in Kansas recently with the committee of investigation appointed by the Senate last winter, came across this cane and recognized it. He secured it, brough it back home, and gave it to to Colonel Johnston who has it now in possession. After twenty-five years wandering, it has returned to its original owner.

Portis Gold Mine.

Weldon News.

Ex-Senator Pomeroy of Kansas is visiting the Portis gold mine in the upper part of this county, which we understand he has purchased from Colonel Sturgess. Mr. Pomeroy is the inventor of a process for separating the finer particles of gold from the earth, which has always been difficult. The want of a machine of this nature has caused much loss to miners. He is sanguine that he will be successful in his mining operations. He says he thinks this mine will pay better than those in the west which create so much excitement, and thinks the gold fever will draw many to this State after a while.

A "Legal" Decision.

Greensboro North State.

An amusing story comes to us from an adjoining county. A girl was about to give birth to illegitimate child, but the man to whom she intended to swear it died before she could get a chance to swear it. Thereupon the girl applied for advice to a young sprig of the law, who had recently settled in the county. After mature deliberation and a careful examination of the authorities, he advised her to swear the child to the administrator of the deceased.

CANCER.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 26, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

DEAR SIR:—I have for years been a sufferer from a dreadful CANCER in my side which caused me untold agony, and as I am a widow with a family dependent upon my exertions for a support, my pain of body was only equalled by my pain of mind, at seeing my children want for bread. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with half a dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live! and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess.

Yours gratefully,
MRS. FULLER SUTT.

I write this to certify that I have known Mrs. Fuller Sutt from childhood, and have seen the hours of agony, that her patient womanhood has been called upon to endure. She has suffered untold agonies and now sits beside me in perfect health with her child upon her knee. The prayers of this grateful woman will ever be yours, my noble sir, and we add our testimony to the thousands that favor the greatest of all modern discoveries, "Vegetine."

Yours respectfully,
MRS. CHELLET SUMMER.

GOODMAN, MISS., May 6, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been suffering for 25 years with the Piles and found but little relief from any medicine that I have taken for many years past. Last winter I suffered considerably worse than ever before, also in connection with Rheumatism I was confined to my bed for several weeks. Having procured a bottle of Vegetine I took it with good effect. I continued the use, and after taking four or five bottles, find myself comparatively cured. I can cheerfully recommend it for the benefits that I have received from it.

Yours respectfully,

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I take great pleasure in recommending your Vegetine. I have been suffering for a long time with the Lung Disease; trying every kind of medicine that I could get, but none seemed to do me any good, until I tried your great Vegetine remedy. I had used it only a short time before I could discover a very great change in my health for the better. I don't consider that your medicine has its equal, for the diseases which you propose to cure, especially the disease that I have been afflicted with

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint.

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

The Inter-Oceanic Canal.

Washington Republican.

Ex-Senator Osborn, of Florida, has unearthed some startling historical facts relating to our treaty obligations connected with the Darien canal business, which serve to give M. de Lesseps' project a new and unexpected importance. These facts are related by him in a long article in the International Review for November, and show that the Government of the United States has been over and over, again and again, explicitly committed by treaties with other nations to the strictest neutrality and passiveness in the premises, no matter by whom, where or how the canal may be constructed. Beginning with the administration of Andrew Jackson, successive negotiations and treaties have been made with New Grenada (now Colombia), Nicaragua, Mexico, Honduras and Great Britain, all of similar intent and import—and all tying up our government from any attempt to exercise control in any manner over an inter-oceanic canal. In the treaty with England, the United States binds itself to protect any parties who shall be engaged in making such a canal with the authority of the local government through whose territory it may pass; to seek to induce such government to facilitate the construction by every means; and when it is completed to "guarantee the neutrality thereof, so that the said canal may forever be open and free, and the capital invested therein be secure." In the light of this revelation, Senator Burnside will possibly feel called upon to amend his Monroe-Doctrine resolution. And, perhaps, he will see fit to "read up" a little in current history before he again essays to mislead the entire country by repeating the assertions contained in that resolution. In spirit it was all right, and awakened a swell of responsive sympathy all over the country. But the trouble is, he was wrong in his facts.

Book Notice.

The Henry Bill Publishing Company, of Norwich, Connecticut, has issued a book called the Industrial History of the United States containing nearly one thousand pages. It is well written, and from the earliest settlement to the present is a complete survey of American industries, embracing agriculture, and horticulture; including the cultivation of cotton, tobacco, wheat, the raising of horses, meat cattle, etc. All the important manufactures, shipping fisheries, railroads, mines and mining, and oil; also a history of the coal miners and the Molly Maguires, banks, insurance and commerce, trade unions, strikes and the eight hour movement, together with a description of Canadian industries. It is really a readable, valuable and interesting book.

Fire.

Chatham Record.

We learn that on the night of the 1st instant., Mr. M. K. Herndon, of this county met with the misfortune of of having his dwelling with all its contents burned up. Both he and his wife were badly burned in their efforts to rescue some of their furniture. Mr. Herndon is a poor man, and this is a heavy blow to him, for in addition to losing his dwelling and furniture, he lost nearly $40 in money for which he had just sold a bale of cotton, and also several hundred pounds of seed cotton that was piled up in his house. There was no insurance.

Get out Doors!

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operators pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeckx in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.

Cuticura

FROM THE HON. WM. TAYLOR, STATE SENATOR OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—To say that I am grateful, is only a poor expression of my feelings, but it is the best word I can use, for I feel it in every sense of the word. I have been a great sufferer with skin diseases for the last twelve (12) years. My head and face being covered with sores, I could not rest with the burning heat and itching of the parts affected, and was confined to my house for weeks at a time. My disease has been called Eczema, of a most aggravated type, by many physicians, but I doubt if ever fully understood by any of them. It was more like a combination of several skin humors. I have spent much money seeking a cure, and in 1877 I went to Europe, and consulted some of the best physicians in London. I received temporary relief only, for in the spring it would break out again as bad as ever. When I came back to Boston, I was told by many friends that Dr. ——— (whose reputation for the cure of these diseases was of the highest order) could cure me. I waited on the doctor; he prescribed for me. I followed his advice for six months, and I can safely say, without any improvement. I tried other physicians and among them Dr. ———, of East Boston, and Dr. ———, of city proper, but all to no purpose. They did me no good; their remedies were so ineffectual that at no time did I feel that a cure would result from them.

I have swallowed five hundred arsenic pills, 1-20 grain, and taken bottle after bottle of internal remedies, besides all the external applications I have used, but the effect was the same. I became satisfied that I could not be cured, but might be kept from getting worse.

Now, about three months ago, Mr. Meehan, a gentleman well known to Boston people, called my attention to your CUTICURA, and promised wonderful results if I would only make a trial. He told me of his own experience with it, and so persevered on me that I went with him to a drug store and bought two large boxes of CUTICURA, and some CUTICURA SOAP, and commenced to use it according to the directions. There was so much humor lodged within the skin, that as soon as I commenced the use of CUTICURA it came to the surface and festered, until vast quantities had come out and greatly intensified my sufferings for about two weeks. But I did not mind this, as I felt that I was going to get rid of the humor when I saw it coming to the surface in such large quantities. After the first two or three weeks' use of this remedy, I was greatly encouraged by a gradual lessening of the inflammation of a number of painful sores. I carefully, faithfully, and cheerfully followed the directions to the letter, feeling each week nearer a cure, until at the present moment, after three months' use of CUTICURA, and twelve years of as constant suffering as was ever endured, I can say that I am cured, and pronounce my case the most remarkable on record. I have been so elated with my success that I have stopped men on the street who were afflicted, and told them to get the CUTICURA and it would cure them. This is why I am so grateful to you, for I believe it to be the best and greatest discovery of the age, and that it will cure all who are suffering with these diseases. I may add that I took no internal medicine but the CUTICURA RESOLVENT.

WILLIAM TAYLOR.

ALFRED WILLIAMS—Local notice.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Frequently complaints are entered at the NEWS office by city subscribers of the non-reception of the paper, and also of other complaints made outside which reach us through the medium of third parties. Singularly enough the papers are missed when important news is expected. Where the trouble lies we do not know, but we shall make an earnest effort to find out. Our carriers are provided with route books, and they leave the office with a sufficient number of papers to supply regular subscribers. It may be that they are left in a position to invite the consideration of outside parties; if they are stolen and if we can discover the guilty persons there will be trouble. If it is the fault of the carriers the matter will be rectified. In future we hope that those who miss papers will promptly report the fact.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Pleasant.

—No old bonds.

—A. B. C. or Nell?

—Another marriage license!

—Revenue receipts, $8,209.07.

—Trade continues to be good.

—News few, scarce and far between.

—There wasn't any dust yesterday evening, Oh, no!

—Justice Barbee didn't law any to criminals yesterday. No offenders.

—Lincke's gymnasium open tonight to the public. Everybody should go.

—The series of meetings at the First Baptist church continue with unabated interest.

—The Board of Aldermen held a meeting last night. See report of proceedings elsewhere.

—Miss N. Cannady, Kittrells, N. C., has a package in the post office at this place with no stamp on it.

—County Treasurer Neathery was busy yesterday having his office in the Courthouse overhauled and a new floor laid.

—The Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons will hold their annual communication in this city on December 2d.

—Mrs. Joe Person, of Franklin, was in the city yesterday. Her medicine is known throughout these United States.

—P. Peiffer & Co., of New York, and James D. Mason & Co., of Baltimore, took out drummer's licenses yesterday.

—His Honor Mayor Manly sat and sat, and held his hands all day yesterday, waiting for an offender—but he didn't come.

—Mr. Ed. G. Haywood, Jr., and lady have returned to the city from Washington and are stopping with Mr. Haywood's father, Ed. Graham Haywood, Sr.

—Cotton opened yesterday morning at 10 3-8 to 10 1-2, declined to 10 1-4 to 10 3-8, but at 3 P. M. advices were received of advance in New York, and the market closed firm at 10 1-2 to 10 5-8.

—It seems that Mr. Wolfe did not lose his valise after all. The boy who was carrying it for him left it at the wrong place. And so nobody has been robbed in broad open day time yet.

—Rev. H. H. Gibbons was in the city yesterday. Mr. Gibbons will be remembered by many of our young men, among them ye local, as having had charge of the Raleigh male accademy a number of years ago.

—Taylor Ellis and Elijah Mills (the latter no kith or kin to the prophet he declared) were before United States Commisoner Purnell yesterday charged with ilicit distilling. The warrant was dismissed for want of evidence.

—Miss Katie Tate and Mr. Charles N. Vance, both well known in this city, were married in Charlotte last Wednesday. They are a happy pair and the smiles of fortune seldom ever shone brighter upon any young couple strating out in life, than these. That unprecedented happiness may be their lot is the unanimous wish of this community.

—Mr. Isaiah Riggsbee, of Chatham county, who has some acquaintance in this city, was killed day before yesterday by the vehicle, in which he was riding, becoming upset. His body was found in about two feet of water and it is not definitely known whether the fall killed him or he was strangled to death while under the water after the fall.

—Ike Blake was before Commissioner Purnell yesterday charged with conspiracy to defraud Uncle Sam. Two parties whose names are suppressed for prudential reasons, sold two barrels of "moonshine" whisky and it was thought Ike was instrumental in helping them dispose of the same. The evidence didn't justify this supposition, however, and Isaac was released and the complaint dismissed.

—It is somewhat gratifying to notice the fact that rocks have been hauled preparatory to fixing up the tremendous and dangerous gully running through Mrs. Karrur's premises and extending across Martin street. It is impossible to keep a fence standing on the south side of this street across the gully, and one is liable to pitch headlong into it any dark night. It has certainly for some time demanded the Street Commissioner's attention.

—Captain Fulghum formerly of this city, now editor and proprietor of the Greensboro Patriot, has been in the city for the past two or three days on business connected with his paper. Everybody knows Captain F., and everybody who knows him likewise are acquainted with his ability to rightly manage a newspaper. The Patriot is already a lively paper, but under its present management it is expected to be a lively and readable sheet indeed.

—The funeral of Mr. Cassius A. Mattoon took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence on New Berne avenue and was attended by a large concourse of friends. Mr. M. was a brother-in-law of our townsman Colonel A. W. Shaffer, and had been a great sufferer during the last year or so of his illness; but he was ever genial and pleasant to all, which caused him to win many friends in this his adopted home. He was a Union soldier and his remains were interred in the Federal cemetery.

—'Twas a "Tri O!" and all three we from the backwoods of Harnett. They tried to keep in the middle of the road and everybody made way for them, but 'twas no use. The "middleman" was about to have both his arms pulled off, when they brought up at the corner of Martin and Fayetteville streets, in full view of the Government building. "Let's go over, Jim, and take a bird's eye view of the capitol?" said one. "Agreed," said another. "Hurrah, for Tom Bayard," shouted the third, and off they went. They spent a few minutes at the post office, and then staggered down Sonth Fayetteville street toward the graded sbhool (the old Governor's mansion) swearing they would pay a visit to "Governor Zeb Vance before they left town."

Oxford Orphan Asylum.

The superintendent's statement for the month of October has been received, and shows a total of cash receipts for October of $254.70 and a comparatively small amount of contributions in kind. In his remarks Superintendent Mills states that October ends with 137 orphans in attendance. Receipts for the months distressingly small. The appropriation by the Legislature has been spent. The Treasury of the Grand Lodge is nearly exhausted, and tho while the Grand Lodge itself occupies a rented hall in order that the orphans may enjoy the buildings and grounds at Oxford. The people are too prosperous to think of the orphans. Even those who subscribed on the 24th of June, have forgotten their promises and seem to be annoyed when reminded thereof. Perhaps on Thanksgiving Day they may—well, we shall see. Still we have this year accomplished as much as during any previous year for the comfort and improvement of the orphans, and made some very important improvements on the premises.

Week of Prayer for Young Men.

The International Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, held at Baltimore last May, representing one thousand Associations, with a membership of one hundred thousand, and the World's Convention at Geneva, Switzerland, in which eleven nations were represented by two hundred and fifty delegates, have recommended the observance of the second Lord's day of the present month (9th inst,) and the week following as a season of thanksgiving and of special prayer for God's blessing upon young men and upon the work in their behalf. The following topics for meetings each day in the week have been suggested:

November 9th, 1879, Sunday—Agreement in prayer encouraged.—Daniel ii: 17-23; Matt. xviii: 19, 20.

November 10th, Monday—A moral young man weighed and found wanting.—Mark x: 17-22.

November 11th, Tuesday—The son of a Godly father who went astray.—II. Chron. xxxii: 33; xxxiii: 1-13.

November 12, Wednesday—A man prospered beyond precedent, but not satisfied—Eccl. ii: 1-11; John iv: 13, 14.

November 13th, Thursday—The secret of a young man's success is business.—Gen. xxxix: 1-6, 22, 23.

November 14th, Friday—A highly favored man and his terrible end.—Matt. x: 1-4; Luke xxii: 3-6, 47, 48; Matt. xxvii: 3-5; Acts i: 16-20.

November 15th, Saturday—Opposite choices of two young men.—Heb. xi: 24-26; Gen. xiii; 10-13.

The co operation of all pastors is asked, and, if practicable, they are requested to preach a sermon to young men on Saturday, November 9th, and such observance of the following week as they deem desirable. Last year the season was generally observed; a large number of sermons to young men were preached, many special services were held, and most encouraging reports of good reports were received from ministers and associations.

We Raise the Best Cotton in the World.

A correspondent writes to the NEWS as follows: "Cotton is narrowed down to three botanical classes—the gossypium herbaceum, arboreum, and hirsutum, or herbaceous tru, and shrub cotton. The true and short cotton plants have a life of from six to ten years, and the arborescent species sometimes grow to the height of twenty feet. In this country only the herbaceous varieties are cultivated. The sea island cotton is the finest in the world. English spinners have drawn a thread out of it weighing one pound that was one thousand and twenty-six miles long. This cotton deteriorates rapidly when planted in the interior. Our short staple cotton is better than any raised outside the United States. England has been trying to become independent of this country by raising her cotton supply in India. She has increased the quantity but the quality remains so poor that unless our cotton is mixed with it the staple is too short to bear spinning into anything like a good thread. Statistics show that the United States furnish seven-eighths of the world's supply. Charleston, Savannah, Mobile, New Orleans, Galveston, Vicksburg and Memphis were built up by cotton just like Chicago and Buffalo were built up by the grain business, Cincinnati out of the pork production, and Pittsburg out of iron, and little Durham out of tobacco"

Curative.

Below is appended a letter received by Mrs Joe Person. It is commended to the readers of the NEWS:

Nov. 2, 1879.

I have now been using your bitters and wash over eighteen months, and the longer I use it the more I am convinced of its merits. The cancer covers perhaps one third of my face and goes in deep, but your bitters and wash have held it in check, so that it has comparatively made little progress since using your remedy. The bitters have kept up my general health so as to surprise all my friends, and the wash keeps it so clean that there is nothing offensive about it. At this time there is one place healing and looks like getting well; new skin has formed a half inch wide and one inch long. My tongue was very sore each side near the root; that has disappeared. The end of my tongue was very sore and coated with white; that is nearly all gone. At one time my taste was nearly all gone; now everything has its natural and proper taste. My general health is better than it was two and two and one-half years ago, all those changes for the better the result of your bitters and wash. I feel that with the blessing of God I owe you my life. It does not look probable that such a frightful looking place could ever get well, and yet all those little improvements sometimes makes me hope that God may yet make the medicine the means of curing it. My prayers go up to Him daily for the best of heaven's blessings on you. The ease and comfort I have enjoyed by using this medicine is more than I can tell. I would not be without it for thousands of dollars. I do not know how to express myself in regards to the merits of the medicine. I regard it as superior to any tonic or alterative, and I have tried everything I could get for the past twelve years. God bless you and your medicine is my daily prayer.

Respectfully and truly,
JOHN BUIE,

Tilden and Kelly's Views on the Result.

New York News. 6th.

At the residence of Samuel J. Tilden to-day, a News reporter met one of the Democratic State officers elect coming down the steps.

"What does Mr. Tilden think of the result in New York State?" asked the reporter.

"He feels sorry, of course," said the gentleman," "that Governor Robinson has been defeated. He deplores the dissensions of the Democracy, but says that this is a Democratic State and is likely to remain so."

"Does Mr. Tilden despair of 1880?"

"By no means. He looks upon this as an off year in politics."

Mr. Kelly refuses to be interviewed. One of his confidants says: "Mr. Kelly thinks the result consigns Tilden and Robinson to that limbo for political ghosts whence they will never again emanate, and that Tammany has accomplished a noble work. The Democratic party of the United States, as well as, and in a more especial degree, the Democrats of New York have been emancipated from Tildenism. Having willfully and foolishly forced Mr. Robinson's nomination on the Syracuse Convention in open contempt and defiance of Tammanys opposition, Mr. Tilden cannot escape the resposibility of his friend's defeat, and vice versa, Mr. Robinson has dragged down Mr. Tilden in his own fall."

E. D. Gale and other Tammany officials said that they didn't think the Republicrns had used them fairly. "If they helped us elect our county ticket," they said, "we would have had something to fight Tilden with next year."

What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Anæmia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Amenorrhœa, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder and such like organic or functional disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."

W. F. BARR, M. D.,
Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Anæmia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment.

GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D.,
New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for chronic diseases.

G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D.,
Eaglewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect.

E. O. GRIGSBY,
DeView, Ark.

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. The reputation of the remedy is too widely known to waste words upon its character. In ordering from druggists always mention Seven Springs Mass. Price $1 per package or six for $5, sent by mail, postpaid.

This fashionable disorder is supposed to be an affection of the mucous membrane of the nose. They say that Henry's Carbolic salve will cure it if used freely and persistently. Give it a trial. Beware of counterfeits.

Paralysis.

Which so often arrests the steps of business men and hard brain-workers after they have passed middle life, might in most cases be prevented by an occasional use of "Compound Oxygen." Nature usually gives a timely warning of the approach of danger from this direction, and they are wise who heed it. Get our "Treatise on Compound Oxygen" and learn all about this new cure. VEST POCKET CURE
25 DYSPEPSIA 25
CLERGY & DOCTORS TESTE.

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C. I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.) It is indorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Editors Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va. Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colic, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.

Rev. R. L. Dabney, LL. D., Col. Va.
It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and flatulent colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly aperient, without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward P. E., Va Conf. About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va. I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For prostration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va. It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate. This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our 'National Disease.' The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists. In Raleigh, by
